Rabea Schif is a presenter, creative consultant, fashion expert and music lover.

Born and raised in Frankfurt am Main, Rabea decided to move to London in 1997 to study Design. She ended up living there for over a decade. With a background in Design Studies, majoring in photography, design and marketing, she started working as a manager for established stylists and photographers. She then became the Advertising Director at Exit Magazine and Project Felix, while also working as a freelance producer and styling & set design assistant for various magazines. Alongside Rabea pursued her career in front of the camera as a model for brands like Woolrich, Nike and Sony and appeared in several music videos. She then moved on to being a presenter for Simon Fullers Project fashionair.com hosting the weekly online fashion show "The Chic Fix". Once back in Germany she continued her career as a presenter, first hosting several online magazines, then becoming a TV reporter and finally becoming the host of a well-known German primetime celebrity news show, "Vox Prominent". Most recently Rabea has been hosting events and livestreams in the fashion, lifestyle and music industry, ranging from music festivals and product launches, to press conferences for the upcoming Frankfurt Fashion Week.

With her sense of style and charming personality Rabea is a frequent and loved guest on red carpets all over Europe. Besides her passion for fashion, Rabea loves interior design, photography, art and has passion for music. She lives a conscious life, aiming to be considerate and respectful towards the environment and all beings.
